Dear Professor Rabb,

On behalf of the administration of the Hebrew University, I am happy to give official approval to what was discussed informally at our meeting in Jerusalem in January, namely the establishment of the academic associates of the Hebrew University. Oversight of the activities of the associates is to be the responsibility of an executive committee consisting of yourself and Professors Bahcall, Bernstein, Laderberg, Rosovsky, Sidorsky, and Silen. The purpose of the associates is to serve the academic needs of the University. They will act in an advisory capacity in whatever areas both they and the University consider appropriate, and executive committee will appoint subcommittees for specific projects in consultation with administrators and Faculty at the Hebrew University. Their initial efforts should be guided by the seven points in the document of december 1988 entitled "outcome of meeting with Yoram Ben-Porath", and should focus especially on point 3, the establishment of the equivalent of AD HOC review committees.

Sincerely yours,

Yoram Ben-Porath

Yoram Ben-Porath
